

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is an apparatus and a process for treating municipal solid waste (MSW). The apparatus includes a reaction vessel with helically arranged internal flights, a self-aligning door closure, and a swing-away door assembly. It also includes a novel structure for shredding MSW attached to the edges of the flights. This structure is number of projecting tooth like points.